As a spring day, yesterday was a credit to the new weather clerk. startling announcement in itself; Jeff often leaves town, and remains away for rom a week to eighteen months, acc ing to the facilities at hand for getting back. When he is no farther than New J. W. Dowler was yesterday appointed York or Chicago, with good railroad condiministrator of the estate of Mary ff. nections, he can generally manage to steal home on freight cars in a few days. When he gets as far as Navassa and all the boats are chained he remains away till a nava officer takes pity ou him and helps him to escape.

This trip an officer of another character will possibly help him to return to those to whom he is, "though lost to sight, to memory dear." The word "possibly" is a used advisedly. Possibly the police of some other city may pick Jeff up and send him back. Probably not. Jeff is what is known in the vernacular as "a silek cit-zen," and though the authorities have want him, it is more a question of inclination on his own part whether he come home this year or some other year.

Jeff told his friends that he was going to Baltimore to collect wages due him foo the Nayassa Phosphate Company. I went to Pittsburgh, but where he we sent to Pittsburgh, but where from there is not yet known. Yesterday Squire W. H. Davis issued a Warrant for Fred (alias Jeff) Davis, on a warrant for Fred (alias Jeff) Davis, on a warrant for Fred (alias Jeff) Davis, on a charge of grand larceny. He is accused of stealing about ninety dollars from old man Otto, the Clarington barber who wa relieved of that sum while drunk in thi city last week. Jeff has often fallen under suspicion by Jeff has often fallen under suspicion but was never convicted of crime. The evening of the Otto robbery he gave to his employer a roll of money, $57, to keep for him. About the same time he bought a suit of clothes and a sik hat, and laid in about $18 worth of groceries for his grand-mother, with whom he has been living. He gave out that the money was sent him by the Navassa Phoephate Company, but that they still owed him a balance. Monday he departed, estensibly to collect this balance. He bought railroad tickets for himself and his partner, known as "the Captain," as far as Washington, Pa. MAYO'S "NORDECK." test Play and the Best Acting Se

Here for Years.

Lust night Frank Mayo and his com-company presented at the Opera House nous play "Nordeck." This drama and this company came to Wheeling with the plaudits of the critice everywhere. Indeed, so highly has its praise been sounded that to one who had not seen it, the suspicion must occur that all those who spoke of it were guilty of hyperbole. But nobody in the audience is the property of the property of the property of the reason of the case o and this company came to Wheeling sions of pleasure.

The plot of the drama is new. It turns on the intrigues of the Polish Princes Zuiliki, (Miss Alico Fisher) who is the mother by a German marriage of Waldemar Norteck (M. Maya) and the plant of mother by a Gorman marriage of Waldemar Nordeck (Mr. Mayo) and by a subsequent Polish marriage of Leo (Mr. F. Sherry.)

Mr. Mayo demonstrated as he never did before his intelligence, his force, his genins. It is hard to imagine a role which makes more reverse demands upon the actor who essays it; harder to suggest any respect in which Mr. Mayo could improve his characterization.

I selor who essays it; harder to suggest any irespect in which Mr. Mayo could improve it is characterization.

Miss Loriner, as Wanda, the cousin of the brothers and betrothed of Lee, afteriwards happy in Waldemar's love, enacted a role almost as difficult in a manner which is increased the admiration of the auditors. In personal beauty the ideal of such as character, she also evinced ability of the lighest order. Miss Fisher fairly won a fair share of the honors, while Mr. Handchett, as the Princes' brother, Mr. Taylor, as Waldemar's uncleapandian, and Mr. St. Marfin as his tutor and friend, sustained leading parts in a manner which contributed greatly to the evenuess and personated by a poor actor, and there is not in the drama a figure which can be personated by a poor actor, and there is not in the company an actor who bears his part weakly. The reformance is destined to remain memorable among the great dramatic events in Wheeling's history. It will be given this evening for the last time. Reserved seats at Baumer's.

The Corinne Company. The Corinne Company.

The popularity of the petite and charming Corinne and the desire to see the unrivaled performance of "Arcadia" by her company at the Grand seems to increase instead of diminishing. The house was crowded again at the matinee, a large proportion of the audience being ladies. Last night there was another good hones, and at both performances the manifestations of delight were enthusiastic in the extreme. Few attractions ever eeen here offer so many features to interest, charm and amuse as the Corinne Company in "Arcadia." It is probable that if the company remained here a month they would pack the house at every performance, at the low prices.

unless something is done to relieve it will be obliged to resort to some desperate measure. Last winter the pressure became so heavy that the company was anxions to throw up its contract and forfeit the large bond it had given, but the Board persuaded it to hold on until after the meeting of the Legislature, promising to endeavor to have some law passed that would enable the Board to furnish the company the desired relief. A measure was passed by the Legislature allowing the Board to either annul or modify any contract. It is now proposed to reduce the force under contract to the Webster Wagon company to fifty men. This will reduce the daily production one half and enable the company to get along.

What will be done with the fifty convicts who will be thrown into idleness by such a move, the Board does not know, but it feels that it will be best to modify the Webster Company's contract so that only fifty shall be idle than to cause the company to forfeit its hond and have 100 idle lelons to dispose of. Office Another Office is developing itself in connection with the fishery dispute, and one which promises to be productive of as much interesting wrangling as the whole of that much vexed question has hitherto caused. This phase relates to the Hudson Bay fisheries. Captain Gordon, of the steamer Alert, who recently returned from an ex-pedition to Hudson Bay, has prepared the bomb, for in his report, which will be Alert, who recently retired from an expedition to Hudson Bay, has prepared the bomb, for in bis report, which will he submitted at the next session of Parliament, he recommends that owing to the value of the fishing fields in that region, all of which are included in Canadian territory, some measures should be adopted at once for their protection against United States fishermen. He says United States whale fishers are unifcensed as traders yet. They trade with the Eaquimanx, and import goods direct from New England ports. They are thus enabled to advantageously compete with the Hudson Bay Company, which is a Canadian and English institution.

Its estimates the value of porpoise, whale, waives, seal and asimon annually caught by American vessels in that region at $1,500,000. It is considered probable that, acting on this report, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, at the opening of the next session will introduce a Government measure whereby that fishing ground shall be made subject to the same rules and regulations as those on the Canadian Atlantic coasts.

It is also reported that, in event of a Commission being appointed by the two Government to settle the fishing difficulty, a claim for damages to the above amount will be made as part of the Canadian Atlantic coasts.

It is also reported that, in event of a Commission being appointed by the two Governments last entered into between Canadian and the United States, but in view of the existing feeling on the fishery questions. Canadians will certainly insist upon their rights in this direction.
